What are adequate records according IRS Publication 463 Travel, Entertainment, Gift and Car Expenses?

You should keep the proof you need in an account book, diary statement of expense, or similar record. You should also keep documentary evidence that, together with your record, will support each element of an expense. You generally must have documentary evidence, such as receipts, cancelled checks, or bills to support your expenses. Documentary evidence is not needed if your travel expense other than lodging is less than $75 or you have a transportation expense for which a receipt is not readily available. Documentary evidence ordinarily will be considered adequate if it shows the amount, date, place, and essential character of the expense. You must generally provide a written statement of the business purpose of an expense. However, the degree of proof varies according to the circumstances in each case. If the business purpose of an expense is clear from the surrounding circumstances, then you do not need to give a written explanation. If you do not have complete records to prove an element of an expense, then you must prove the element your own written or oral statements containing specific information about the element, and other supporting evidence that is sufficient to establish the element. If the element is the description of a gift, or the cost, time, place, or date of and expense, the supporting evidence must be either direct evidence or documentary evidence. Direct evidence can be written statements, or oral testimony of your guests or other witness setting forth the detail information about the element. Documentary evidence can be receipts, paid bills, or similar evidence.

Pilot Professional Deductions

Receipts are not required for travel expenses under $75 if entered into your logbook, including item, date & cost. Always purchase items with credit cards, debit cards or by check so that you will have a record of the purchase if you lose the reciept. Do not send receipts; keep them for your records. TOTAL BLOCKS will be completed by Tax Preparer
